I'm an alternative Wedding photographer from London and I LOVE city weddings! After years of working in both the music and fashion industry, I transitioned to weddings and elopements in 2014 and haven't looked back. Specialising in alternative, quirky, non-traditional weddings in London, I absolutely love meeting relaxed couples who see wedding as simple putting a ring on it and then partying with friends and families. Whether it's in London or further afield, I'm a 'roll with the punches' kind of photographer that loves getting stuck in with your plans for the day and helping any way I can. If you're a chilled out couple looking for a fun and creative photographer then look no further!

I am a London-based Wedding and Lifestyle Photographer specialising in relaxed, creative and personal photography. With a documentary approach, I create vibrant, storytelling images that show people's personalities and lives at their most authentic. Friendly, down-to-earth and honest with a smiley face, I ensure you and all your guests feel completely at ease on the day.

Henrik Andersen Photography

I am an award winning wedding photographer based in Canary Wharf, London. My approach is non-intrusive, and I always ensure my pictures tell an honest story of the wedding day - the raw emotions, spontaneous moments and all the highlights are captured for you to treasure. During my 12 years in the industry, I have developed a photographic style which can be described as documentary, artistic, cinematic and candid.

Pedro Portela - Videographer

hello@pedroportela.co.uk

Pedro Portela Films is a small, boutique-sized wedding videography business, focused in cinematic wedding films. As the main videographer, I work mostly alone, to convey my discrete signature approach. I like to treat every wedding differently and film things because they tell a story - not just for the sake of it. I treat each wedding as an individual unique commission, and my films are my take on your love story and your love story is by definition unique. While I love history and tradition, I don't do traditional shots. I shoot whatever helps to tell the story. That basically means that I don't do the same old, cheesy shots that have characterised wedding videography since the 1990's. What makes me point the camera at things is the stuff that makes you guys unique; your story and all the emotions around it. I shoot what's beautiful. What's important to you. What makes cinematic sense - as well as, of course, covering ceremony, speeches, and all the main bits and the odd detail.

But I leave the traditional "has to be photographed" shots to the photographer.

Grace & Thorn is a florist based in East London's Hackney with a unique and different aesthetic when it comes to floral design. We champion letting flowers sing, dance and breathe and hate the idea of manipulating natural shapes into tight domes or dimensions. We also love plants as much as we love flowers and spend a lot of time incorporating plants, foliage and blooms together where possible. We offer a whole plethora of services; anything from table arrangements and garlands to hanging floral walls and monstera leaf chandeliers, we are driven to help create the perfect environment for your event, wedding or party.
